

The Daily Rigour

Sun 16th August 2020

Issue No. 212

Your free weekly numeracy newspaper!

Boris Johnson announces fines of up to £3200 for failing to wear a face covering

People who repeatedly flout rules on wearing face coverings could be fined up to £3200 under tough new rules for England, Boris Johnson has said.

Failing to wear a mask in places like shops and on public transport carries a fine of £100 at present and this fine is not being increased.

But under new measures in "the coming weeks", repeat offenders will see their fine double on each repeat offence - with a maximum penalty of £3200.

Under these new measures, how much will a person have to pay in total for 6 fines?

Student fails French exam after naming Cristiano Ronaldo as the GOAT

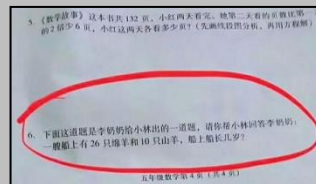

A student failed his French exam by a single mark after he named Cristiano Ronaldo alongside a picture of a goat.

Ahmed Nabil, 15, was presented with a variety of different animals in the paper but rather than write down a 'sensible' answer, he included a certain five-time Ballon d'Or winner in his work!

But not all exam questions are so straight forward! An apparently unsolvable exam question on a Chinese maths paper left pupils well and truly stumped!

The question was intended for children around 11 years old. Shown below is the question, let's see how you attempt to solve it!

If a ship had 26 sheep and 10 goats on-board, how old is the ship's captain?

Argos to stop printing it's famous catalogue after nearly 50 years

Does anyone else remember looking through the Argos catalogue and dreaming of what you were getting from Santa?

Well, that's a thing of the past because after almost half a century, the time has come to say goodbye to the iconic Argos catalogue.

Over the past 47 years there have been 93 editions, over one billion copies printed and tons of customers left with cherished memories.

For the given year's below can you name the Argos best selling Christmas toys?

1976 - S _____ A _____

1977 - S ____ W ____ T ____

1981 - R _____ C ____

1984 - C _____ P _____ D _____

1991 - G _____

1996 - B ____ L _____

1999 - B ____ T ____ B _____

2008 - I _____ P _____

Britain's cheapest supermarket named

A price comparison looked at the cost of 78 branded and non-branded items, including salad tomatoes, olive oil and pasta, at 8 of the biggest UK supermarkets.

Lidl was the cheapest costing £72.02 for the 78 items. Waitrose was the most expensive costing £39.75 more. How much did Waitrose charge for these items?

BUSINESS

RETAIL